The Public Meeting. Right glad are we that the good people of aond have, in public meeting assemied, given expression to the deep sympathy which for the last four days they have felt going out towards the suffering President of the United States. Perhaps it would have been better if the meeting had been held sooner; but we can speak for the whole community of this city when breasts of the people of any city in the land. This afternoon about half-past 2 o'clock. as a train of some twenty or more loaded freight-cars were coming down the heavy grade from the southern depôt to the Rich mond and Petersburg railroad depot, one of the flats jumped the track at the latter depot, running against some freight-cars on the side track. The down train bad obtained such momentum as to pass beyond the control of the engineer, and it was impossible to stop it. The cars on the side track being pushed forward, came into collision with those on the main track at the bridge across the Appomattox, and six of them were thrown off and wrecked. The engine and several cars broke loose from the train and passed safely over the bridge. As the train came down the grade the engineer sounded the alarm, and a train which was standing on the main track at the depot moved off and was saved from acci-dent. There was no accident to life or limb, but the escape from the plunging of a whole train into the river was very narrow. The track is being cleared as rapidly as possible and there is some delay of through trains.
